

AXIS as seen by President Sidi Ould Tah (3)

A vision put to the test on the ground — Since taking the helm of the BADEA, Sidi Ould Tah has championed a simple idea: Africa must better mobilize its own wealth to finance its development. Yet every doctrine must eventually confront reality.

The PRECAPE signal—In April 2026, the AfDB approved funding for PRECAPE and explicitly incorporated the deployment of AXIS. A few weeks later, the program entered the Congolese institutional process with its review by the Senate.

The DRC as a laboratory — Few countries combine such a wealth of natural resources and environmental assets with such significant needs for territorial development. With the FSRDC, the DRC offers a particularly favorable environment for experimentation.

AXIS as an illustration of the NAFA—leveraging community assets, strengthening traceability, and transforming local resources into development capacities: AXIS applies an approach at the local level that closely mirrors that of the New African Financial Architecture.

When doctrine becomes a demonstration
